แบบทดสอบ เรื่อง Vacations

Read the information given and draw a graph.

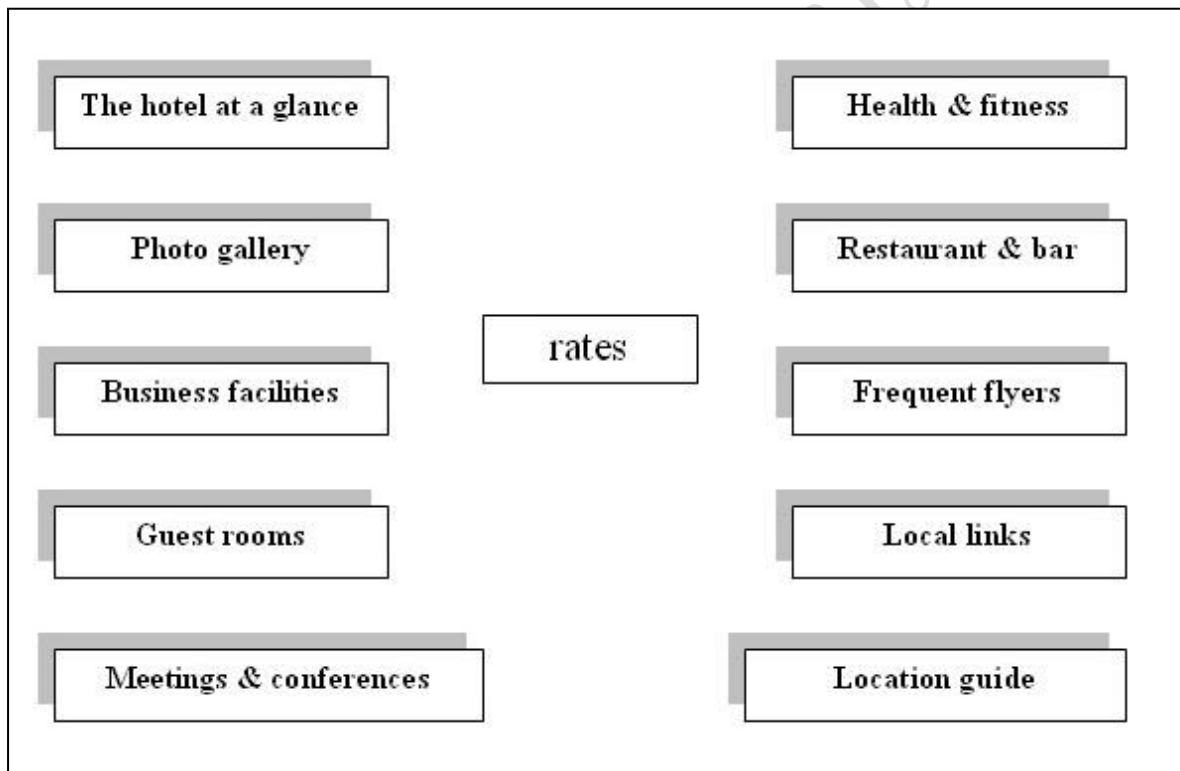

This graph shows the number of students who attended an English course at the MIT Institute from March to August 2005. In March there were 150 students and went up to 220 in April. During May the number decreased slightly to 200. However, there was an increase to 220 in June, the same as in April. After that, that number of students still stayed at the same as in April and June, then fell down significantly to 100 in August.
